DETAILED ACTION

Terminal Disclaimer

1. The terminal disclaimer filed on 1/3/05 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of 10/787,053 has been reviewed and is accepted. The terminal disclaimer has been recorded.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 2 and 7-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Crum et al. The reference discloses the invention substantially as claimed, namely a flexible magnetic layer 59 having adhesive 44 fixed to a lower surface thereof and lines of weakness 70, 78, 84, which may include perforations or score lines, formed in the magnetic layer; see Figures 1 and 2, and paragraph [0031]. The term “wafer seal” in claim 1 does not distinguish over the prior art because it does not provide any patentably distinguishing features to the claimed article. Concerning the ability to fold the claimed laminate, the laminate of the reference is capable of being folded at the lines of weakness in view of the flexible properties of the magnetic layer.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 3-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
5. Claims 11-20 are allowed.
